

Published on SeniorNavigator (<https://seniornavigator.org>)

Daughterhood Circles

What is Daughterhood?

Daughterhood.org's mission is to support and build confidence in women who are managing their parents' care. The daughterhood website, blog, podcast and social media links connect you — the care manager — to resources and a wholly unique perspective on our health and elder care systems.

Daughterhood is what happens when we put our lives on hold to take care of our parents. Unlike motherhood, we don't expect daughterhood. And, even if we did, it's shocking how hard and time consuming it is.

Daughterhood Circle Gatherings

Circles are communities that gather on a semi-regular, face-to-face basis. How often, when, and where you meet depends on the preferences of the circle members and their leader. Our goal is to help circle leaders create a relaxed atmosphere that emphasizes camaraderie. To find out more about daughterhood circle gatherings including how to start one in your community, follow this link - Circles - and for daughterhood circle gatherings in Virginia, go to www.daughterhood.org/daughterhood-circles-virginia

Daughterhood Resources

Explore the Daughterhood website, blog, podcast, and resources including essential books and websites.

Learn more about Anne Tumlinson and how she came to start daughterhood.org.

Article Source

Daughterhood

Source URL

<https://www.daughterhood.org>

Last Reviewed

Thursday, January 4, 2024